THE SPIRITUAL LIFE AT NORTH AVENUE BEACH

By Bob Kolatorowicz

Adult Spirituality/
Education Ministries

Old St Patrick's Church

“On that day, Jesus went out of the house and sat down by the sea. Such large crowds gathered around him that he got into a boat and sat down, and the whole crowd stood along the shore. And he spoke to them at length in parables...” (Matthew 13: 1-3)

These are the opening lines from today's Gospel. And what follows these verses is “The Parable of the Sower,” a familiar and important spiritual teaching. Surprisingly, what captured my attention in the Gospel passage this time was not the story about scattered seeds, but the place. Jesus leaves the house and goes down to the sea. I like that.

I have not been to the Sea of Galilee. But there are many days when I have left the house and gone down to the shore and joined the crowd at our own inland sea. There's something special, even spiritual, about the lakefront. I'd be willing to bet that if you asked people to make a list of spiritual places in Chicago (excluding houses of prayer or worship, or maybe even including houses of worship, you never know) the lakefront would be in the top three on most every list. For sure, it's at the top of my list.

Like many folks, I am drawn to the beauty of the lake, be it the peace of calm waters or an awesome display of crashing waves on a stormy day. There's also just something good for the soul when, walking east, you encounter the sudden and always welcome transition between the urban landscape of concrete and glass and the wide open expanse of sand and blue water. Finding God in nature? No doubt.

But in addition to appreciating the natural beauty of the lakefront, I've taken to reflecting on some of the activity that you can see on any given summer day. For example, there's always bunches of kids tumbling in the surf, laughing and splashing. Then there's the guy, looking like he works in an office, who takes off his shoes and socks, rolls up his pant legs and walks along the shore, never going more than ankle deep. Further out I might notice a swimmer, complete with swim cap and goggles, who looks like she might be training for a triathlon. Serious and disciplined, she slices through the water building muscle and lung capacity. Even further out, skipping along the surface of the waves like they were snapped from the wrist of a roaring but unseen giant are the jet skiers. And then, of course, in boats or along a pier are the fishermen, hoping the depths might surrender tonight's dinner.

I'm sure we've all witnessed similar scenes. But here's what has sparked my imagination.

I'm wondering if all this that we observe and enjoy at the lakefront doesn't actually mirror the various moments in spiritual life.

You probably see where I'm going with this. If the depths of faith can be likened to the depths of the lake, there are times in the life of faith when we might only skip along the surface, moving fast from idea to idea but not able to grasp a sense of purpose or meaning. Or maybe, we'll go ankle deep, but no more if the demands of faith seem too great and beyond what we feel capable of giving at that time. There might also moments of deep commitment, when like the swimmer, we engage in a disciplined practice (daily prayer?) to build greater capacity for a faith filled life. And still, there might be other times when out of need, desperation, or hurt, we cast our lines out into the depths hoping to reel in something that will satisfy a hunger. Best of all are the moments when, like children playing in the surf, we open ourselves to the Spirit and feel God's pleasure in us.

There you have it, the journey of a soul made plain during a day at the beach. Throw out all the theology texts – just kidding. But it is fun to think that our days at the lakefront can provide us with yet another window into the varied moments that reveal the winding paths of our spiritual lives. That said, and if you find the lakefront to be one of your favorite sacred spaces, it might be time for a pilgrimage. See you at the beach!

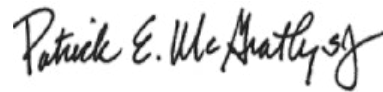

DISCIPLE MAKER INDEX SURVEY UPDATE

Dear Friends,

Thank you for taking the time this past Lent to complete the Disciple Maker Index survey. As you may recall, the survey asked questions about your own journey of discipleship and how well the parish and the pastor are doing to support you along the way. We received 1,149 completed surveys providing us with significant input on a number of aspects of faith and community life here at Old St. Patrick's.

Our Parish Advisory Board, along with our various ministry leaders and I will take the next few months to review and interpret the results and develop a more detailed report on what was collectively shared. Following that initial assessment, we will then identify actions to address specific areas of growth – whether it be across the parish or for me, personally, as your pastor.

I am grateful to all of you for what you have contributed through this survey. It is clear to me that we, as a community of faith, are eager to grow closer to our Lord and to assist one another in living out our faith. I look forward to sharing more in the coming months and working with all of you to continue creating a vibrant experience of church here at Old St. Patrick's.

A SUMMER OF FAITH, HOPE AND LOVE | ONLINE CHAPEL

We Catholics refer to faith, hope and love as the theological virtues because it is only through our relationship with God that our capacity for these virtues expands. Therefore, prayer can be understood as anything that increases our faith, hope and love. Furthermore, neuroscience and some of the latest psychological research reveals that our brains are hard wired for these virtues. Evolution has made us spiritual creatures and developing these virtues is essential to the advancement of our species.

This will be the backdrop for our chapel readings and prayer this summer. We will explore faith in June, hope in July and love in August. Please join us for some sacred silence and reflective reading in a welcoming community of fellow seekers. It is a path to deepen your relationship with God and so expand your capacity to live with greater faith, hope and love.

The chapel schedule is below, and you are welcome to join us whenever you are available.

World Refugee Sunday: June 25

Thanks to all who stopped at the IRM table after Masses. So many of you showed an interest in the work we are doing and so many of you generously contributed to our coffers as well. We are especially indebted to the OSP parishioner who donated $15,000 to continue the work IRM does. Your generosity helps us to help others in need. Our sincere thanks!

Many of you asked for a list of goods needed by the asylum-seeking families, who are temporarily housed at Wright Jr. College. City Lights Church, which is sorting and organizing the donations of clothing and other needs of these families, sends their compliments to Old St. Pat's for their generosity. In addition, IRM has donated 100 waterproof, light-weight adult backpacks to these families, using the funds you donated to us. Thanks for making this possible.

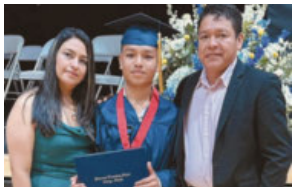

If you are looking for a way to help, there is still much needed: Consider joining with volunteers called Police Station Response Team Volunteer Interest (bit.ly/ResponseTeamVolunteer). This will connect you to this organization that helps asylum seekers who are temporarily staying in police stations while awaiting shelter placements. Please visit bit.ly/ResponseNewVolunteers for more information. You can locate your police station at bit.ly/CPDFindMyDistrict

Valdivieso family/Venezuela:

You may recall the story of this small family, who had spent eight months traversing eight different countries—while carrying an infant—who finally arrived in Chicago by bus from Texas. They were spotted in the park across the street from FXW School by a 3rd grader, who asked her dad to check on them. This touching act of kindness has been repeated many, many times over the past month on behalf of this family. Unfortunately, we don't have the space here to thank ALL of the folks who have reached out to help them.

However, we must offer special "thanks" to Jody and Frank Weschler, who have provided temporary housing for them in their own home for a number of weeks before they moved to a more permanent apartment. IRM will assist by helping the family with the first six months of rent, as well as completely furnishing the new apartment with the household goods donated by OSP parishioners earlier this year and furniture/new bedding from the Chicago Furniture Bank. The Valdivieso's have already begun English as a Second Language (ESL) classes four mornings a week, an essential next step in pursuing the American dream. Many thanks to the Weschler family—and to all of you—who are making a real difference in the lives of so many refugees and asylum-seekers. God's work is being done through all of you!

Perez family/Honduras:

One of the Perez family's sons, Denilson just hit a big milestone, graduating from junior high. He looks forward to attending Mansueto High School in the fall. Denilson was also a star player on his school's soccer team this past season and is currently playing in a local soccer club. Way to go Denilson--we are SO proud of you!

Ramos Family/Colombia:

We're proud to report that Luis Ramos, the father of our family from Colombia, has successfully completed his trial employment period with DRC Heat Transfer and is now a full-time employee with full benefit offerings, including insurance, vacation time and a 401K program. He works in DRC's assembly area, manufacturing large cooling systems that are used in data centers, oil and gas applications and other industries. Congratulations to Luis!

The Immigration & Refugee Ministry (IRM) is so grateful to Old St. Pat's members for their generous, ongoing support of our efforts. A sincere thanks to all--the need is great.

Part 3 of 7 weekly stories about North Lawndale Works, a job creation campaign hosted by Old St. Pat's through the North Lawndale Kinship Initiative.

FRUSTRATING BARRIERS TO EMPLOYMENT

By: Maureen Hellwig
Member of Old St. Pat's,
North Lawndale Works Team, and OSP's
Immigrant and Refugee Rights Committee

What We May Take for Granted

Those who are privileged that glibly say: "Get yourself a job" have few ideas of the barriers residents of North Lawndale and similar communities must overcome to do that. This article is a reflection on numerous barriers I learned that exist on that long and winding pathway to employment for people in underserved communities.

While many of us may remember the anxieties we faced as we thought about finding our first job, we may not reflect on the fact that we benefited from certain privileges. Maybe we did not think of them as "privileges." They just givens in the white world we lived in. But for most residents of North Lawndale those privileges, or resources, are not "givens."

Many of us may have belonged to a "network" that could help us find a job. That network could have consisted of two or more generations of working family members that provided models of what working looked like. That has not always been the case for generations of Black Americans who descended from hundreds of years of slavery, followed by a century of Jim Crow discrimination. So, let's think through some of the differences brought about by that heritage vs. the history we in the white community inherited.

1. Transportation Inconvenience - For those generations of Old St. Pat's families, and before cars were so readily available, it was common for one to either walk to work or scrape together "car fare" for the streetcar, bus or subway to get there. But imagine the frustration of getting to a job that has relocated from the city to a distant suburb. The new location, while a shorter commute for the management, is burdensome for city dwelling workers with no cars, no money and limited other resources. Then there's the challenge of purchasing a monthly pass for $75, before you even receive your first paycheck.

2. Education Obstacles - Sufficient education or workforce training becomes another barrier. A high school diploma may still be enough for some jobs, but high school drop-out rates in neighborhoods like North Lawndale tend to be high. The more motivated may eventually pursue a GED, and then get disappointed when employers say they would rather hire workers with a high school diploma. Training for the more skilled jobs was often provided by unions, but those unions did not open membership to African Americans for many years. Some nonprofit organizations stepped up to fill that gap, but they were few and far between. Oh, and besides mastering 'Reading, 'Riting and 'Rithmetic, an employer might ask, "How are your computer skills?"

3. Technology Hurdles - It is difficult to apply for a job today without a smartphone, tablet, or laptop. One probably has to fill out an application at a computer terminal, email a resume, and take follow-up texts and phone calls – all impossible to do without the proper devices and training on how to use them.

4. Childcare Challenges - Let's suppose an individual, say a single mother, has now found a job and figured out how to get there, but now she has to find a reliable sitter for the children, and pay for that. Even at $10/hour, an unlikely bargain, that comes to $400/week, $1600/month, $19,200/year. If the minimum wage is $15/hour, and you work a 40-hour week, you only take home $600/week, and you still have to buy food and pay for rent and utilities. Or, if the person is lucky, there is a nearby preschool that is subsidized enough to make the price to a new worker more affordable, but some neighborhoods have no such place and those that do often have long waiting lists. Even if they are subsidized, parents must pay fees in proportion to their income. And is there an after-school program for the older children, if Mom and/or Dad will not be home in time to pick up after the 3:00 or 4:00 dismissal?

5. Wardrobe Deficits - Okay, all those problems have been resolved, but another thing to be “ready for work” is appropriate attire. If uniforms are required, wardrobe is less of an issue. However the bad news might be that one with no money at all is expected to buy the work uniform. This is another insurmountable barrier to starting a job.

6. Homelessness - Arguably, the worst barrier of all is having no reliable place to live. How does one stay warm in winter or cool in summer? Where can a worker go to take a shower, prepare a meal, get a good night's rest, store one's personal belongings without fear of them being stolen? Some job seekers only need a little assistance to pay an overdue rent or utility bill to ease the stress of their search for living wage employment.

Removing the Barriers

These are huge issues that many of our neighbors face. This is why Old St. Patrick's members started North Lawndale Works out of an acknowledgment that kinship makes things better for those facing unimaginable difficulties. Will you help us get more of our North Lawndale neighbors to work?

Our Lady of Mount Carmel

Saint of the Day for July 16, 2023

Hermits lived on Mount Carmel near the Fountain of Elijah in northern Israel in the 12th century. They had a chapel dedicated to Our Lady. By the 13th century they became known as "Brothers of Our Lady of Mount Carmel." They soon celebrated a special Mass and Office in honor of Mary. In 1726, it became a celebration of the universal Church under the title of Our Lady of Mount Carmel. For centuries the Carmelites have seen themselves as specially related to Mary. Their great saints and theologians have promoted devotion to her and often championed the mystery of her Immaculate Conception.

Saint Teresa of Avila called Carmel "the Order of the Virgin." Saint John of the Cross credited Mary with saving him from drowning as a child, leading him to Carmel, and helping him escape from prison. Saint Thérèse of the Child Jesus believed that Mary cured her from illness. On her First Communion day, Thérèse dedicated her life to Mary. During the last days of her life she frequently spoke of Mary.

There is a tradition—which may not be historical—that Mary appeared to Saint Simon Stock, a leader of the Carmelites, and gave him a scapular, telling him to promote devotion to it. The scapular is a modified version of Mary's own garment. It symbolizes her special protection and calls the wearers to consecrate themselves to her in a special way. The scapular reminds us of the gospel call to prayer and penance—a call that Mary models in a splendid way.

The Carmelites were known from early on as "Brothers of Our Lady of Mount Carmel." The title suggests that they saw Mary not only as "mother," but also as "sister." The word sister is a reminder that Mary is very close to us. She is the daughter of God and therefore can help us be authentic daughters and sons of God. She also can help us grow in appreciation of being sisters and brothers to one another. She leads us to a new realization that all human beings belong to the family of God. When such a conviction grows, there is hope that the human race can find its way to peace.

Parish Counselor: If you or someone you know is in need of counseling services, please contact Old St. Patrick's Parish Counselor, Sarah Thompson at saraht@oldstpats.org or 773-234-9630.
