The Ascension of the Lord

(I know in some dioceses they celebrated Ascension on Thursday but in the Archdiocese of Chicago, as in many other dioceses, this Feast is moved to the following Sunday, taking the place of the 7th Sunday of Easter.)

This past week at our school of Frances Xavier Warde we celebrated our last “All School” Masses with the students. I use the plural word “masses” because our school of almost 1,000 students is found on two campuses: here at Old St. Patrick’s and the other campus being over at Holy Name Cathedral, thus requiring two liturgies. The student body is divided between the lower grades and the upper grades. Old St. Pat’s hosts the students from preschool to 3rd grade, while Holy Name Cathedral campus has the 4th through 8th grades. Needless to say, with two distinctly different “congregations” because of age gaps from 5 year olds to 14, I had to come up with two different homilies.

For the little ones on our campus here at OSP, as with any children’s liturgy, I did my best to keep them focused and engaged by asking them a very simple question: “what have you learned this year in school?” Whenever the homily is dialogical and I ask for participation, these little munchkins jump right in. The big kids, not so much. They’re too school for cool (as the pop song expresses!) Most times, for the smaller students, it turns into chaos with every kid raising his or her hand, wanting desperately to share their response! I heard what you would expect: “I learned how to add and subtract; I learned division; I learned how to spell; I learned about art.” And the list goes on...

But there was one response that really caught my attention from a young gentleman in second grade: “I learned how to build a city.” Whooa, I thought! You learned how to build a city?? I told him he could be the next mayor of Chicago. As much as he caught me off-guard with that response, I thought it was a fascinating answer.

With it being the Feast of the Ascension, the 40th day since the Resurrection, and the Risen Lord is now ready to return to God’s right hand, I muse on whether Jesus might have asked his disciples that same question: so, what have you learned?

After I received a sufficient amount of responses from my young friends at the school mass and a sufficient amount of chaos ensued, I then just simply said: so what will you do with all that you learned? That may have been a little over the head for my young assembly. Being a Catholic school, I continued on and said that I hope we did more for you than just fill your heads with knowledge. I hope we all learned something more about the Gospel, our Faith, the religious Traditions of others in our school, respect, reverence, generosity, and prayer.

Each Ascension Day when we consider the first words of the Acts of Apostles (Act 1:1-11) I am always intrigued by the words of the “two men dressed in white garments” (the sign of the baptized!): “why are you standing there looking at the sky?” Essentially the messengers are saying: why are you just standing around? He taught us so much! So let’s not just stand idle and mourn our losses and fear this moment of transition, we’ve got work to do, so let’s get to it!

Which brings me back to what that kid said: “I learned how to build a city.” On this feast of the Ascension, let’s be renewed in what we know and in what we believe. The Master taught us and hopefully we have learned how to build the Kingdom… Hopefully we’ve learned something from Jesus about the importance of Love, forgiveness, charity, being inclusive, giving others a second chance, caring for each other—especially the most vulnerable, respect and reverence for all life, work for peace and justice, be fair, speak kindly, show compassion...

As the disciples were instructed by the Risen One not to leave the city…don’t run away…just wait for the Spirit to guide you, strengthen you, and be your wisdom so you can learn more and build more. May we never stop learning and may we never stop building a Holy World, a Holy Church, a Holy Home, and a Holy Life.

Father Tom Hurley

Father Tom Hurley
What does it mean to preach in Jesus’ name?

This weekend we celebrate the Solemnity of the Ascension of the Lord, where Jesus tells his disciples to go out and proclaim the gospel to every creature.

Today's words from Ephesians explode with hope and delight... “Brothers and sisters... may the eyes of your hearts be enlightened, that you may know what is the hope that belongs to his call...” Through the challenges our Church, the institution, faces today, the faithful's vision of this promise is blurred, so the written word is a reminder rich with unending hope. The enlightened heart is like that of a child, full of wonder and delight, a poignant sentiment of how Jesus shared his light with everyone around him. God asks us to share our own light with the world... “They will know we are Christians by our love” are the words of a traditional hymn, reminding us that if our actions do not show that we have repented by opening our hearts to God so that we might receive the abundant love God wishes to lavish upon us, then our words mean nothing.

Children have the abundant capacity to share their smiles, and tears, openly and compassionately. Their youthful hearts are not yet afraid with worry, they know that their God loves them unconditionally, as He loves everyone, and with ongoing catechesis they grow into God's embrace more fully. Their faith will be tested; they will question it, they will doubt it, they will ignore it, and they may eventually walk away from it. Just like the disciples, we are a people with many questions and many doubts. The scripture today reminds us why we continue to believe in Jesus' promise... this is our faith.

Blessed to visit some of the poorest dioceses of Puerto Rico last month, I was struck with wonder by the 'enlightened hearts' of the people I met. One couple in particular, Miguel and Julie, live with such a fierce faith, I caught a glimpse of God in their eyes... no joke. Julie, always holding a blue crystal rosary in her hand, and Miguel shared stories of survival post Hurricane Maria. They knew God was always present, but when Maria swept across their land, they became acutely aware that God was not only alive in their hearts, He was dancing, reminding them of the joy that is their faith, calling them to spread the Good News. Immediately after Maria left the island leaving inconceivable destruction, Miguel and Julie joined hands with their neighbors and started to rebuild in whatever way they could. They fed their neighbors with hot dogs, the only food they could find for two weeks, never running out, every day having just enough to reach those living on the margins who were confined to their homes, or what was left of them. I knew I was sitting in the midst of a power I have never felt before as I eagerly listened and absorbed every word Julie and Miguel expressed while they shared their stories. God's presence was alive in them when they spoke, when they smiled at each other, and when they held hands; the experience of Maria only made them stronger. It's as if these two children of God had traveled with the disciples long ago, holding the hands of Peter and John so they could be closer to Jesus when he said, “And behold I am sending the promise of my Father upon you; but stay in the city until you are clothed with power from on high.” Their love for each other and for their God is steadfast... nothing, not even the strength of a Category 4 Hurricane, can stop it.

Today we celebrate Jesus' ascension into heaven, and although he may not be physically visible, he is most certainly walking right next to us. If we allow ourselves to believe and to see through the blurriness and busyness of our lives, he is present, tugging at our hearts and telling us to open our eyes so that we can see the goodness around us... in disciples like Julie and Miguel. Faith is a wondrous gift we hold, allowing God to live fully within if we keep our hearts open. We don't need to travel very far to hear the Good News because we are an Easter people, just like Julie and Miguel, eagerly awaiting Jesus’ return. May we strive to be present and listen to the words of wisdom and grace in the ordinary minutes of our days as we continue to build up the Kingdom of God.

LITTLE BROTHERS – FRIENDS OF THE ELDERLY & OUTREACH AT OLD ST. PAT’S

Elderly people who have outlived their family and friends, sometimes even their own children, are left alone to face the loss of physical abilities and the challenge of tiring minds. Little Brothers matches elders with volunteers who help relieve isolation by providing transportation, visitation and friendship to elderly participants living in the city.

Volunteers also organize and deliver groceries from the pantry, cook and serve meals for holidays and celebrations of life, and accompany their elderly friends on outings to ballgames, museums and other attractions. Volunteer hours are flexible.

NURSERY SERVICE

The Sunday morning nursery service is held in the FXW cafeteria starting at 9 am for the 9:30 and 11:15 am Masses (children need to be picked up within 10 minutes of the end of mass).

Upcoming dates: June 2, June 9, June 23. There will be no nursery service on June 16 (Father’s Day).
WHO'S WHO IN MUSIC MINISTRY

Name and Vocal Part: Nicole Tuma, soprano

Typical Masses You Sing: 8:00 am, 9:30 am, and 11:15 am

How long have you been singing at OSP? It will be 4 years as of St. Patrick’s Day (Fun fact: St. Patrick’s Day is also my birthday!)

Primary profession(s) or position(s) held: Freelance Musician -- I was a flute performance major who started playing masses in college to brush up on my improv skills. After graduating I got a job as a vocal section leader at the MN’s St. Paul Cathedral where, after frantically teaching myself to read chant notation and undergoing what felt like a crash-course in Renaissance polyphony, I discovered that I love to sing. When I went back to school for my masters, I made a point of doing a minor in voice. At the moment, I sing at a number of Chicagoland churches, play in a classical flute-guitar duo, teach private flute and voice students, and music direct kids musical theater. I'm also looking forward to my fifth summer coordinating and co-teaching the Grant Park Music Festival's Classical Campers program.

Favorite OSP piece of music: I love ringing in Midnight Mass with Cathedral Christmas. Listening to one of my colleagues sing Silence and the Sorry is one of my favorite parts of Holy Week. Singing the descant on “Receive Who You Are” is always fun!

What's top on your personal playlist? My “Baby’s First Year” book lists Bob Dylan and Shostakovich as my favorite musicians. That remains reasonably accurate, but my tastes have expanded a bit since then. For the past few weeks I’ve been indulging my fondness for early music and listening to Ensemble de Caelis’ Le Livre d’Alienor on repeat. My favorite set of songs has been Golijov’s Three Songs for Soprano and Orchestra ever since I skipped junior prom to hear Dawn Upshaw sing it two nights in a row. I also love the music of George Crumb - I will play Vox Balanae at the drop of a hat, and the house blasting Black Angels on Halloween is probably mine.

“OUR COMMUNITY’S COMMITMENT TO REFUGEES GROWS”
By Ruth Easterling

I joined OSP’s Immigrant and Refugee Rights Committee last summer. As a new person to Old St. Patrick’s Church I was energized by the committee’s volunteer focus. It centered on moving forward from committee discussions to taking action to support refugees, educating the congregation around relevant immigrant and refugee issues and making connections within the Archdiocese and the City of Chicago. As I sat down to write, I couldn’t help but reflect on the progress made by the committee in just nine months – this is truly the work of the Holy Spirit.

Over these months, Catholic Charities’ Refugee Resettlement Program brought to our attention three different opportunities to support refugee families. Through many of your generous donations and contributions to the Immigrant & Refugee Fund, OSP has supported and continues to support the following families and individuals:

- The Ramos family from Columbia being accompanied by four dedicated committee members. The family receives ongoing support through regular home visits and generous donations—such as a bicycle for the eight-year-old son Luis and a sewing machine for Maria—as they adjust to life in Chicago.

- Emil and Benjamin, two young adult brothers from the Congo who grew up in a Rwandan refugee Camp. Emil and Benjamin are receiving visits twice a month from one committee member for language support and adjusting to the United States. Emil is working nights packaging food to support both of them.

Meet the Anuar family

Then there’s the Anuar family, a Rohingya family of three from Myanmar (formerly known as Burma) who arrived several months ago. The Rohingya refugee crisis is a human rights and humanitarian disaster. There are more than 1.3 million refugees displaced due to religious persecution. This family making it to the United States is in itself a miracle.

Our Catholic Charities liaison, Brother Joe, and I met Nor Azimah at the family’s apartment. She is a beautiful woman and wore a colorful scarf that framed her face. I brought a basket with some groceries that can be used during the holy Islamic month of Ramadan, which is a time of fasting. Norhan, her husband, joined us for the last 30 minutes. I’ve worked with other refugee families that have just arrived. In comparison to those experiences, this family is much further ahead in their adjustment. I immediately wondered why, and then the answer unfolded.

Nor Azimah speaks level 8 English, which is the highest level for English as a Second Language (ESL). She learned English at the UN school in the Refugee Camp prior to coming to the United States. She is continuing her English training and takes a bus to lessons daily. She wants to continue to improve her English, get her GED and even mentioned a desire to work towards an accounting degree. Nor Azimah also shared she has one brother and sister who live nearby and another sister who is in Milwaukee. For a refugee family arriving to a new country, having family or friends nearby can be a significant support factor.
Norhan works a food packaging company earning $12 an hour. He gets up at 5 a.m. and returns home around 7 p.m after putting in overtime. Norhan was a car mechanic in his home country, which is the work he would like to do, but needs to earn a certification in order to do so in the U.S.

I expected the four year old son, Azimi Bin, to be in the apartment. Nor Azimah explained that Azimi Bin was away playing with his cousins! Azimi Bin loves soccer and will begin school in the fall. We hope to meet him during a future visit.

The message of this family's experience to date is the importance of community and family support. Most refugee families are lost and overwhelmed during their initial months of resettlement. Often times, the journey to their new home is long, rigorous, and even dangerous. Having family available to help them settle in, adjust and understand things like public transportation or grocery shopping in their new country has provided a great support to the Anuar's. Our Immigrant & Refugee Rights Committee is looking forward to expanding and building upon that support as we continue to work with them.

New Refugee Family Sponsorship Opportunity - Support Needed

Catholic Charities’ Refugee Resettlement Program has reached out to Old St. Pat’s Immigrant & Refugee Rights Committee about sponsoring another family! Last year when we were first contemplating the idea of sponsoring, Catholic Charities shared the story of a family of seven who fled the Congo in 2003. As we prepared for the family’s U.S. arrival for sometime in early September 2018, at the last minute their departure was cancelled due to a technicality with paperwork. Unfortunately, this happens more often than not and is part of the plight of refugees trying to relocate and start a new life. Thankfully, we recently learned that the family finally made their long awaited arrival to Chicago about a week ago!

The committee has plenty of volunteers but needs help raising $10,000 to officially sponsor and resettle this family.

Your support helps to provide:
• The security deposit for housing
• Assistance for the first 3 months of rent
• Apartment furnishings
• A Welcome Pack which includes items such as food, clothing, household, kitchen, and bedroom items; toiletries and hygiene items as well as transportation cards

Please consider making a donation to the Immigrant & Refugee Fund. With your generous donations, we can show yet another family what Old St. Pat’s radical hospitality is all about!

Recently Pope Francis said, “Today’s world seems to be increasingly filled with indifference and cynicism. At the root of these attitudes is a lack of Hope which harms our relationships with each other and with God.” The most apparent solution is an infusion of Faith, Hope and Love. That has been and continues to be the primary goal of the Faith Foundation.

Over the past fourteen years the Faith Foundation has given out 233 grants totaling over $950,000. We, on the committee, realize that without your thoughtfulness and generosity none of this great work and blessings would have been possible. Be assured that every dollar that you contribute goes directly to inspire our young people.

Please join us on Monday, June 17th as we honor two selfless servants who bring hope and love to the many hearts they touch each day. This year’s recipients are Monsignor Ken Velo and Tim Bopp. These selfless servants are constant examples of how each of us can make a difference in our own fast paced world one person at a time. Remember no one can do everything - but everyone can do something.

We’re North Lawndale College Prep.

This year has brought a lot of change to Chicago. We have a new mayor in City Hall, just days into her administration, and a new governor in Springfield who promises to shake up education in the state.

One thing that has been constant is the impact that North Lawndale College Prep (NLCP) is having on our city. For 21 years, NLCP has been a beacon of light on Chicago’s west side. In 2018-2019, NLCP’s Peace Warriors have trained more than 120 students and teachers on how to interrupt violence in their schools and communities. NLCP’s Phoenix Hall has supported five students experiencing housing insecurity, providing them with residential services, food and counseling. And, at our two campuses, more than 150 scholars have completed their Senior Project, exploring issues that affect their community from the impact of sugary drinks on health outcomes to how male-dominated culture affects rates of sexual violence.

Blessed Angeline of Marsciano
(d. July 14, 1435)

Saint of the Day for June 4

Blessed Angeline founded the first community of Franciscan women other than Poor Clares to receive papal approval.

Angeline was born to the Duke of Marsciano near Orvieto. She was 12 when her mother died. Three years later, the young woman made a vow of perpetual chastity. That same year, however, she yielded to her father’s decision that she marry the Duke of Civitella. Her husband agreed to respect her previous vow.

When she died two years later, Angeline joined the Secular Franciscans and with several other women dedicated herself to caring for the sick, the poor, widows and orphans. When many other young women were attracted to Angeline’s community, some people accused her of condemning the married vocation. Legend has it that when she came before the King of Naples to answer these charges, she had burning coals hidden in the folds of her cloak. When she proclaimed her innocence and showed the king that these coals had not harmed her, he dropped the case.

Angeline and her companions later went to Foligno, where her community of Third Order sisters received papal approval in 1397. She soon established 15 similar communities of women in other Italian cities.

Angeline died on July 14, 1435, and was beatified in 1825. Her Liturgical Feast Day is July 13.

Priests, sisters and brothers cannot be signs of God’s love for the human family if they belittle the vocation of marriage. Angeline respected marriage, but felt called to another way of living out the gospel. Her choice was life-giving in its own way.
